THE UNCLASP WALTZ.

Only Contact of Dancers the Touching of Finger Tips.

The "unclasp waltz" is the latest novelty in dances reported from London. In it the partners do not clasp each other, but stand face to face, holding their arms out sideways, the fingers touching, but not interlacing. Another popular waltz do eight bars of the waltz in this relative position toward each other. Next the man puts his hands on his hips and the girl puts hers behind her back, and still face to face, but not touching, each other, they continue through eight more bars. It is the privilege of the man to reverse or not under these rather difficult circumstances.

The Boston with its new feature, "The 1911," is still danced, and so are the one-step and the two-step. Another popular novelty is the value masurka, dedicated to the Duchess of Westminster, by whom it was inspired. The value masurka (waltz of the skaters) was introduced in London by visitors from Berlin. The partners, standing side by side, take hands, crisscross merely, and then advance as you see skaters on the ice, doing two

All attempts to put down outbreaks of supersuper in the ballroom have so far failed to remove the tendency of quadrilles and lancers to develop into something more nearly resembling rhythmic romps. But when we hear of the major of an eminently quiet district of France leading an edict against a popular quadrille figure, the "Pasturelle," because it "inflicts injuries on the heads of dancers," it seems that there are more hysterical indulgences than even the "kitchen lancers."

Where It Is Lawful to Steal Wives.

From the Wide-World Magazine.

From the time that Bedouin is eight years of age until he dies of old age he is more or less looking out for new wives. By law Mohammedans are never allowed to have more than four at the same time, but they easily evade this regulation by divorcing one, which simply means sending her back to her parents. This is often because she has borne him no sons. So it happens that the old shrew almost always have young wives. It is considered effeminate for a man to show the least affection toward his wives, at least openly. One of the young sheikhs of the Adwans, Mouthaf, who recently lost his young and only wife, acknowledged to be the prettiest girl in the tribe, shed tears at her grave. For this he was much laughed at by his companions, who said: "If a man's wife die he can easily procure himself another." But for a deceased father, brother, or even a mother, they think it does not show weakness to mourn, because where could he get another? This seeming indifference to women has undoubtedly grown out of the false idea the men entertain that to express appreciation of them would be weak and unmanly. From perpetual observation

I know that the Bedouins, in private, treat their wives with more consideration than is generally shown among orientals, especially so if they have borne sons. Bedouin women can go about alone and no one dare molest them on pain of death. Immorality is scarcely known among them, for should a girl go wrong her own relatives would put her to death. Bedouin women are not likely to be subjected to any indignity at the hands of these roving sons of the desert.

Standard Sets of Books Were Never So Low in Price

No wonder the crowds at our Third Floor Book Store are so large, and that every one is talking of the remarkable values.

WHAT SET HAVE YOU WANTED? Tell one of our salespeople. They can no doubt find it in this lot at a price so low that it will be a surprise to you. Here are two specimen values:

Shakespeare's Works 10 Vols., Complete, $3.95 Cloth.

This is the latest edition, with notes by Gollancz, Hudson and other competent Shakespearean scholars. Notes are placed at the foot of each page for handy reference, and they are printed on a fine Bible paper. We especially recommend this set—no library is complete without it.

Harper's Encyclopedia of U. S. History, 10 Vols., $2.95

The volumes are based on the plan of John Lessing, LL. D., with special contributions by John Fiske, William R. Harper, Albert Bushnell Hart, Woodrow Wilson and others. These sets are known as "pulled sets"—sent to prospective customers, but returned after inspection—hence cannot be sold as perfect.
